Overall, there are 12,840 ratings on stocks in the S&P 500. Of these ratings, 59.4% are Buy ratings, 35.7% are Hold ratings, and 4.9% are Sell ratings. The percentage of Buy ratings is above its 5-year (month-end) average of 55.8%, while the percentage of Hold ratings is below its 5-year (month-end) average of 38.7% and the percentage of Sell ratings is also below its 5-year (month-end) average of 5.6%.

On the other hand, analysts are most pessimistic on the Consumer Staples (43%) sector, as this sector has the lowest percentage of Buy ratings. The Consumer Staples sector also has the highest percentage of Hold ratings (49%) and the highest percentage of Sell ratings (9%).

The ten S&P 500 companies with the highest percentages of Buy ratings and Sell ratings (with a minimum of 3 ratings) can be found on page 4.

Q1 Earnings Season: By The Numbers

Overview

Heading into the final weeks of the quarter, analysts and companies have been more optimistic than normal in their earnings outlooks for the second quarter. As a result, estimated earnings for the S&P 500 for the second quarter are higher today compared to expectations at the start of the quarter. In addition, the index is expected to report earnings growth above 20% for the second-straight quarter.

In terms of estimate revisions for companies in the S&P 500, analysts have increased earnings estimates for Q2 2026. On a per-share basis, estimated earnings for the second quarter have increased by 2.9% since March 31. In a typical quarter, analysts usually lower earnings estimates during the quarter. Over the past five years (20 quarters), earnings expectations have fallen by 2.0% on average during the quarter. Over the past ten years, (40 quarters), earnings expectations have fallen by 2.7% on average during the quarter.

In terms of guidance, both the number and percentage of S&P 500 companies issuing positive EPS guidance for Q2 2026 are higher than average. At this point in time, 110 companies in the index have issued EPS guidance for Q2 2026. Of these companies, 48 have issued negative EPS guidance and 62 have issued positive EPS guidance. The number of companies issuing positive EPS guidance is well above the 5-year average of 44 and well above the 10-year average of 41. The percentage of S&P 500 companies issuing positive EPS guidance for Q2 2026 is 56% (62 out of 110), which is also well above the 5-year average of 41% and well above the 10-year average of 41%.

Due to the upward revisions to earnings estimates by analysts and the positive EPS guidance issued by companies, the estimated (year-over-year) earnings growth rate for Q2 2026 is higher today relative to the start of the second quarter. As of today, the S&P 500 is expected to report (year-over-year) earnings growth of 22.0%, compared to the estimated (year-over-year) earnings growth rate of 18.7% on March 31.

If 22.0% is the actual growth rate for the quarter, it will mark the second consecutive quarter of earnings growth above 20% and the seventh consecutive quarter of double-digit earnings growth for the index.

Ten of the eleven sectors are projected to report year-over-year growth, led by the Energy, Information Technology, and Materials sectors. On the other hand, the Health Care sector is the only sector predicted to report a year-over-year decline in earnings.

In terms of revenues, analysts have also raised their estimates during the quarter. As of today, the S&P 500 is expected to report (year-over-year) revenue growth of 12.1%, compared to the expectations for revenue growth of 9.4% on March 31.

If 12.1% is the actual revenue growth rate for the quarter, it will mark the highest revenue growth rate reported by the index since Q2 2022 (13.9%). It will also mark the second consecutive quarter of double-digit revenue growth for the index.

All eleven sectors are projected to report year-over-year growth in revenues, led by the Information Technology, Energy, and Communication Services sectors.

For Q3 2026 and Q4 2026, analysts are calling for earnings growth rates of 25.6% and 23.1%. For CY 2026, analysts are predicting (year-over-year) earnings growth of 23.3%.
