Heading into the final weeks of the quarter, analysts and companies have been more optimistic than normal in their earnings outlooks for the third quarter. As a result, estimated earnings for the S&P 500 for the third quarter are higher today compared to expectations at the start of the quarter. On a year-over-year basis, the index is expected to report earnings growth for the ninth-straight quarter.

In terms of estimate revisions for companies in the S&P 500, analysts have increased earnings estimates for Q3 2025. On a per-share basis, estimated earnings for the third quarter have increased by 0.7% since June 30. In a typical quarter, analysts usually lower earnings estimates during the quarter. Over the past five years (20 quarters), earnings expectations have fallen by 1.4% on average during a quarter. Over the past ten years, (40 quarters), earnings expectations have fallen by 3.2% on average during a quarter.

In terms of guidance, both the number and percentage of S&P 500 companies issuing positive EPS guidance for Q3 2025 are higher than average. If 6.3% is the actual revenue growth rate for the quarter, it will mark the second-highest growth rate reported by the index since Q3 2022 (11.0%), trailing on the previous quarter. It will also mark the 20th consecutive quarter of revenue growth for the index.

Ten sectors are projected to report year-over-year growth in revenues, led by the Information Technology, Communication Services, and Health Care sectors. On the other hand, the Energy sector is the only sector predicted to report a year-over-year decline in revenues.
